You are going to make your own version of What's My Meaning?

Use the blank puzzle page to write down all your words.

What to do:

- Open a book or a magazine at a random page.
- Close your eyes and put your finger on the page.
- Open your eyes again and find an unusual, funny or interesting word near where your finger has landed. You may need to look around a bit until you find your perfect word.
- Write this word carefully in the first yellow box.
- If you don't know it, look the word up in the dictionary at <https://kids.wordsmyth.net/we/> and put a word that means the same thing as it in one of the empty boxes underneath.
- Fill out the remaining boxes with other words that mean totally different things.
- Vary the position of your 'right answer' word so that people can't just guess it because of where it is.
- Repeat for all the other yellow boxes
- Give your puzzle to a relative or friend to try and solve. Can they do it without the dictionary?

What's My Meaning?

Word Chains

What to do:

1. Think of any word you like. If you get stuck for a 'start' word, chose one from What's My Meaning?
2. Write your word in the yellow box below and look at the last letter of the word.
3. This letter will now be the first letter of your next word. Think of a word that begins with that letter. Write it after your word.
4. Now look at the last letter of that word and repeat. You are making a chain of words.

How many words can you make your chain out of? Can you avoid using the same word twice? Try including some funny and unusual words in your chain. You must look these words up in the dictionary so you know what they mean.
